

Who We Are

Founded in 2011, The CP Journal specializes in behavioral analysis, helping teach people how to accurately read and assess the intentions of those around them.

What We Do

By combining validated scientific concepts with professional experience, we teach people how to read human behavior and offer steps on how to take action.

What it Means to You

Become more confident in any situation and more effective at what you do by gaining a better understanding of the intentions of those around you.

The Tactical Analysis® Program helps our clients to develop a greater understanding of nonverbal communication, improve the ability to recognize threats and read the human terrain. Through an application of scientific principles, Marines and soldiers can learn to read the uncontrollable and universal elements of behavior and develop the intelligence our nation’s protectors need to make informed decisions when targeting criminal, insurgent and terrorist networks.

The Tactical Analysis Program is focused on developing a police officer’s ability to rapidly establish a baseline for any situation they are in and identify the criminal hiding within the crowd. We teach students how to read and classify an individual’s behavior and then how to place those observations into the context of the environment and situation. This allows an officer to first locate a criminal and also learn how to communicate why a person’s behavior was anomalous, assisting in report writing and ensuring unbiased assessments.

We teach security and executive protection professionals how behavior reveals those with violent intent. Behavioral assessments allow for elevated levels of situational awareness and focuses on preventing active shooter incidents. The techniques and observations taught are ones that professionals can be confident in to identify pre-event indicators of violence while standing guard, conducting an advance or monitoring video surveillance systems.

The Ensuring School Safety course focuses on creating secure learning environments for our nation’s students. Behavioral analysis allows schools to get beyond creating only a perception of safety and take steps to prevent violence from occurring. The concepts delivered in this course help school personnel reduce the numerous risks they face using an easily repeatable and non-invasive process to assess the intentions of those approaching and on school property.

Stemming from our success training our nation’s protectors, we have enhanced the traits of our program and tailored them to meet the unique needs of the business environment. Our corporate communication program has been proven to help recruiters, sales professionals, customer service and human resource managers save time and help improve their efficiency during crucial points in corporate conversations through behavioral analysis.
